

NAME: Alessandra Di Pisa
DATE OF BIRTH: 7 January 1977
NATIONALITY: Swedish
PROFESSION: Journalist

I am abstract in thought and speech, co-operative in accomplishing my aims, and informative and extraverted when relating with others. For me, nothing occurs which does not have some deep ethical significance, and this, coupled with my uncanny sense of the motivations of others, gives me a talent for seeing life as an exciting drama, pregnant with possibilities for both good and evil. I have great influence because of my extraordinary impact on others. I am inclined to go everywhere and look into everything that has to do with the advance of good and the retreat of evil in the world. I can't bear to miss out on what is going on around me; I must experience, first hand, all the significant social events that affect our lives. And then I am eager to relate the stories I've uncovered, hoping to disclose the 'truth' of people and issues, and to advocate causes. This strong drive to unveil current events can make me tireless in conversing with others, like a fountain that bubble and splash, spilling over my own words to get it all out.

I am both an 'idea'-person and 'person'-person, who see everyone and everything as part of an often bizarre cosmic whole. I have strong, if unconventional, convictions on various issues related to the Cosmic View. I have a great deal of zany charm, which I use to persuade people gently of the rightness of my views. This sometimes results in me neglecting my nearest and dearest, while flitting around trying to save the world.

I'm not all that intuitive, but I do trust my instincts when it counts. When I find myself ignoring a perfectly decent advice from a friend for no good reason, or start to call someone, only to hear their voice and not a dial tone on the line when I pick up the receiver - that's my intuition waving its hand in the air and trying to get noticed. Intuition is often just a matter of keeping calm enough to listen to my inner feelings, so I pay attention even though it is not easy. But I know that the payoff for taking the time to listen to myself really can buy me some happiness.

My stars are sending me straight into the arms of an Aries-man. His feistiness and energetic demeanour, coupled with his optimistic outlook, make the two of us a perfect match. As an Aries, his assertive, independent manner will guarantee him success no matter what career he chooses. The only problem is how little time he gives himself to achieve his high goals. Patience is definitely not an Aries virtue. His open heart and creative mind, however, give him an air of self-confidence that makes me melt. And let's not forget his very sexual, impulsive side. As a fire sign, he's able to ignite my passion, and he has no problem keeping my interest. His symbol is a ram, and he is respected most for his courage and bravery. As an Aries man is adventurous, he wants excitement in his relationships. Despite his questioning nature, he'll only fall for an honest, innocent woman. Possessing a fairy-tale approach to romance, he won't tolerate devious behaviour. His adventurous nature extends to the bedroom, where he likes to act out all of his fantasies. In all respects, this man wants to take charge. So I sit back and relax. I let him take the lead, make the plans, and take care of me. I'll be in good hands if let him sweep me off my feet.
